IMPARTIAL, NOT NEUTRAL.

SHANGHAI, SATURDAY, JULY 8, 1865.

A report of the Masonic Ceremonial of Monday last will be found in the supplement.

It is well known that the imposition of some tax to replace the wharfage dues which were at one time the principal source of Municipal revenue, has been rendered necessary by the construction of a large number of private wharves, whose owners can hardly be expected to contribute to the public funds. It may possibly be a matter of doubt whether wharves situated within the police districts should not pay some composition on account of the protection afforded to them, but those which have been erected outside those limits, and therefore derive no benefit from Municipal supervision are evidently unburdened by any obligation to pay a tribute to the Councils of the settlements. In order to meet this difficulty the establishment of a town rate has been proposed, and agreed to by a meeting of land renters which also represented fully and fairly the mercantile interest of the port. But to us the project seems to be as yet in its infancy and to require much elaboration before it can be adopted. The wording of the resolution:—

"That this meeting * * * authorises the Municipal Council to collect a due * * * at the rate of one tenth per cent on the value of all articles entered at the Custom House for Import, Export or Re-export, presupposes the assent of the Taotai, the approval of the foreign Consuls, and the good will of the trading community. For the authority of the Council is still based upon sand, nor can it by any means at its disposal enforce the payment of a single item of taxation. Of this the difficulty experienced in collecting the house and land tax has furnished ample proof. Those owners of property who disapproved of the action of the late Council, signified that disapproval by refusing to contribute to the exchequer, and shippers and consignees have now only to adopt the same means of explaining their sentiments and crippling the public finances. We are glad to see that the French are cordially uniting with the English in this matter, as the very nature of the proposed tax renders it necessary that absolute uniformity should prevail over the entire foreign settlement. The French Council has consented to accept one sixth of the revenue thus derived as its share, and probably a fairer distribution could hardly be made. But whether the Consuls may not object to the collection of any additional impost through the Custom house as an infraction of the treaty, whether the Taotai will be satisfied with the remission of the six thousand taels which he now annually pays, and whether the foreign community at large will accept the legislation of the Council in the matter, are questions which must be solved before any decided step can be taken. The first possible objection which we have indicated appears to us of no weight. The new tax although to be collected through the Custom House is in reality only based on statistics obtained from the Customs, and would in no way interfere with the provisions of the treaty. It may however seem a hazardous experiment to place so dangerous a weapon in the hands of the Chinese. We would also dwell upon the necessity for coming to a distinct understanding with the Taotai as to the amount which he may claim. There seems no reason to believe that he may not demand not only the remission of the six thousand Taels which he now pays as composition for the wharfage dues, but also the payment of a certain proportion of the revenue derived from the operation of the proposed system. And besides these elements of difficulty there remains the most important and formidable of all—the impossibility of enforcing the collection. The Commissioner of Customs has evidently no authority to detain a ship whose consignees refuse to pay the town due, and it is still fair subject of discussion whether any Consular Court could recognise the Municipal Council as a plaintiff in a claim for monies due. The vital question of a charter for the Council is still unsettled, and until that body obtains some corporate existence it can expect little but difficulty and disappointment in the fulfilment of its most cherished plans. When Shanghai was of more limited dimensions it was possible to trust to the good feeling of the residents for the carrying out of proposals intended to secure the general good. But now that the population has largely increased, when the wealth of the settlements is distributed amongst innumerable hands, and when the distinction of classes is clearly and definitely marked, there can be little community of interest and very little mutual confidence. Were every other obstacle cleared out of the way of the proposed measure, we should be glad to find that its successful operation was based on some foundation more tangible and more intelligible than the goodwill and sense of propriety existing amongst the foreign residents. But this can only be the case when the Municipality of Shanghai obtains a corporate existence, and to the attainment of this end the energies of the present Council might be profitably directed.

Consul for Lubeck, Hamburg, and Bremen.
Members of the Municipal Council.—Messrs. W. Keswick, Chairman, J. Hogg, T. Hanbury, W. Probst, J. C. Coutts, Nichol Latimer, and R. F. Gould, Secretary.

Maintz, W. Pearson, R. H. Tyers, G. Tyson, J. F. Twombly, F. G. White, and others not Land Renters; representing 114 votes.

THE CHAIRMAN read the Notification, issued by Sir Harry S. Parkes, K. C. B., dated the 20th instant, convening a Special Meeting of Land Renters to be held on the 30th inst., for the purpose of considering the propriety of levying a Town Due instead of the present Wharfage Rate.

THE CHAIRMAN said prior to proceeding to business, it would be desirable to elect a gentleman to fill the office of Secretary to the meeting.

Mr. KESWICK concurred in Mr. Seward's suggestion and begged to propose.

RESOLUTION No. 1.

That Mr. JOHNSTON be appointed to act as Secretary to this meeting.

Mr. HOGG having seconded the resolution, the Chairman said that as no objection was made he would presume the consent of the meeting to the nomination.

Mr. KESWICK regretted that in spite of the importance of the subject announced for discussion, so few of the Land Renters had presented themselves at the meeting. As there was not a sufficient number pre-ent to pass a vote binding on the entire body of renters, he would propose.

RESOLUTION No. 2:

That this meeting do now adjourn until to-morrow, Saturday, the 1st July, at 3 P.M.

Seconded by Mr. PROBST, and carried unanimously.

The meeting then adjourned.

GEO. F. SEWARD,
Chairman.

ALEX. JOHNSTON,
Secretary.

Ezekiel, S. C. Farnham, G. Gray, C. Grey, J. Hooper, C. Treasure Jones, C. J. King, E. H. Lavers, B R. Lewis, J. Love Jr., J. P. Lynill, E. Maintz, S. Moses, D. Patridge, D. Reid, R. R. Tyers, G. Tyson, J. F. Twombly, F. G. White, and others not Land Renters; representing 159 votes.

THE CHAIRMAN mentioned that on the previous day Mr. Johnston had been elected Secretary, and he would continue to act in that capacity at the meeting now assembled. He stated that, as most of the meeting were already aware, this was an adjourned meeting, a sufficient number of land renters not having been present on the previous day to make any action that might be taken binding upon the community. He called upon the chairman of the Municipal Council to state the objects for which the meeting had been called, more fully.

Mr. KESWICK said the object of the meeting had already been stated in the local papers, and in the report drawn up by the Finance, Rate and Appeal Committee. The reason for wishing to change the principal source of revenue for another was the difficulty in collecting the Wharfage Dues; some paid while others were exempt, and he therefore purposed to lay before the meeting a proposition to collect a Town Due through the medium of the Custom House. The Commissioner of Customs had kindly assented to place certain of his officers at the disposal of the Municipal Council, in order to carry out the scheme; in fact M. Giquel had displayed uniform kindness in the matter. He (the speaker) hoped that the revenue to be derived from the collection of Town Dues would considerably exceed that hitherto derived from the Wharfage Dues, and allow of Municipal affairs being conducted in a proper manner, and meet the Police and other necessary expenses At the same time it would fall lightly, being an ad valorem tax on merchandise, the imports, exports, and re-exports. It was a tax that would recommend itself to all. The previous Council were impressed favorably with its importance, and he hoped Mr. Dent would second the following resolution:—

RESOLUTION No. 1.

That this meeting approves of the system of levying a Town Due, instead of Wharfage Dues, and authorizes the Municipal Council to collect a due in conformity with the Report of their Finance Committee, viz., at the rate of one-tenth per cent, on the value of all articles entered at the Custom House for Import, Export and Re-export.

Mr. EZEKIEL said that before the question was put to the meeting, he wished to make a few remarks as to opium. He was of opinion, that opium did not derive any protection from the Municipal Council, and should therefore be exempt from payment of the tax, as it was not kept on shore. If it was proposed to levy a tax on opium let it be done by all means, but only on that landed.

The CHAIRMAN here remarked that the resolution had not yet been seconded.

Mr. DENT begged to second Mr. Keswick's motion.

Mr. EZEKIEL could not see on what reasonable grounds a tax could be imposed on opium kept on board Receiving ships, and from them transmitted to other ports. One fifth per cent on opium would be enormous, it would amount to about a tael per chest. This is 1/10 per cent on Imports and the same on re-exports and he had no doubt the Indian Houses would object to the levying of the tax. With the permission of the Chairman, he would therefore propose the following amendment —

AMENDMENT.

That it is the opinion of this meeting that as opium is never kept on shore, it should be exempted from paying Town dues; at the same time all that is landed should be subject to the above due.

Seconded by Mr Moses.

THE CHAIRMAN remarked that there were certain matters of a municipal nature with which it was competent for the Land Renters to deal, but there were other matters in regard to which the sanction of the Consuls was necessary—and that the matter before the meeting was one of those which require the sanction of the Consuls. He read the last clause of the 10th Rule of the Land Regulations.

If renters of land in public meeting assembled as herein provided decide upon any matter of a Municipal nature not already enumerated, and affecting the general interests, such decision shall first be reported by the Chairman to the Consuls for their joint concurrence and approval, without which approval officially given such resolutions cannot become valid and binding on the renters as a body.

As to the matters enumerated he would read from the 1st clause of the same Rule.

And at such meeting it shall be competent to the said Renters to, declare an assessment in the form of a rate to be made on the said land or buildings, and in the form of wharfage dues on all goods landed at any place within the said limits.

He thought it was clear that the proposed Town due was not in the nature of a Wharfage due, and he had spoken to the Council upon the point and did not think that they would claim that it was. He thought it was necessary to mention the point in order that the meeting might not misapprehend its powers.

Mr. DENT was of opinion while listening to Mr. Ezekiel's remarks, which at first appeared plausible, that it was necessary to state that the Receiving Ships possessed large privileges. They were a monopoly, they had the benefit of the anchorage, and in consideration of receiving this, they were entitled to pay first. If the Municipal Council wished to alter the resolution it might be put that the Receiving Ships be charged so much to make up the amount of the tax derivable from opium. Opium was well known to be a most valuable article of commerce, indeed there were many Hongs entirely maintained by the opium trade. It would be in accordance with strict equity that they should pay for the monopoly which they enjoyed. The Municipal Council no doubt would withdraw their resolution if this proposal were carried out. On the same plea that Mr. Ezekiel advanced, Cotton goods Tea &c, would escape the tax, being only imported to be re-exported.

THE CHAIRMAN said as no further debate appeared to arise, he would put the amendment to the meeting (Amendment lost, having received but very few votes.) He then read the resolution proposed by Mr. Keswick and seconded by Mr. Dent, which was carried by a large majority. He would here observe, that the action of the Municipal Council in this matter was not opposed by himself.

Mr. DENT suggested that before carrying out the scheme it would be well to go into some details, as it often happened that a principle fell through when it was attempted to carry it into practice. He would warn the Municipal Council before taking any action in the matter and obtaining the approval of the Consuls, (which he did not doubt would be conceded) to make the details public for the information of consignees and owners. He thought that the measure proposed might be productive of inconvenience to the owners of steam-boats running up and down the river.

Mr. HOGG said that the Municipal Council would always endeavour to collect taxes in the least onerous and least troublesome manner possible. Of course all taxes were troublesome and annoying, and it was therefore the Municipal Council's first care to so arrange the details of collection as not to add to the irritation. The working of the system of Town Dues might certainly cause owners of River steamers more trouble than others, but this might be remedied by an arrangement with the Customs. He did not agree with Mr. Dent, that it was now necessary to go into details. He thought the public might trust their Municipal Council in such matters, and that the Land Renters need hardly be called together again at much inconvenience to themselves, merely to decide on mere points of detail. Steamer owners would not wish to be obstructive, and it would not be difficult for them to collect the Town Due in like manner, and at the same time with their freights. He had been informed that at times they could not collect some amounts of freights. All he could say was that in the event of such a contingency he would undertake to assure them that the Council would be willing to abandon their claim to the small Town Due that might be owing in such cases. He was sure that M. Giquel would make such arrangements in the River steamer office, as would ensure the system being worked in the best manner possible.

Mr. DENT suggested as a point worthy of consideration, that should the Commissioner of Customs refuse to allow a steamer to clear before paying the dues, serious inconvenience would be caused.

Mr. TYSON said that he did not see how the Commissioner of Customs could detain a vessel for a local tax of this nature, after the treaty obligations with respect to vessel and cargo had been complied with.

Mr. KESWICK said that at first there might be a little difficulty in initiating the system, but if persons would send in any suggestions which struck them, the Council would give them the greatest attention. And he had no doubt that, without causing much inconvenience to steamer owners, everything could be arranged in a satisfactory manner.

Mr. EZEKIEL wished to know in case of refusal what right would the Commissioner of Customs have to refuse permits to land or ship.

Mr. KESWICK begged to propose:—

RESOLUTION 2.

That the thanks of this meeting be given to Mr. Seward for his able conduct in the chair.

Seconded by Mr. Dent, and carried unanimously. The meeting then separated.

SUPPLEMENT

TO THE

"NORTH-CHINA HERALD," JULY 8, 1865.

LAYING THE FOUNDATION STONE OF THE NEW MASONIC TEMPLE, SHANGHAI.

THE day appointed for this interesting ceremonial had been looked forward to with much anxiety by the members of the fraternity, and in a less degree by the general public. It was many years since a similar event had taken place, and at that time the small number of brethren resident in Shanghai had prevented the display of all that pomp and circumstance which should enter into the performance of a rite at once solemn and imposing. When, therefore, last Monday's sun rose, bringing in its train a day which seemed to promise torrents of rain, very great disappointment was generally felt. Better fortune however than was expected attended the fraternity. At about 4 P.M., the sky cleared, and from that hour until the completion of the ceremony little or no rain fell. The lodges mustered at the old masonic building in Canton Road, when having been opened in due and ancient form, they were marshalled in procession by R. W. Brother C. M. Donaldson, Acting Grand Director of Ceremonies. The order usual in masonic processions was of course observed, that is to say, the junior lodges walked first, and in each lodge the junior brethren took the lead. The procession was accordingly formed thus:—

The procession, which extended for a considerable distance, displayed a very noteworthy regularity, due altogether to the indefatigable exertions of R. W. Bro. Donaldson, whose wide home experience of such Masonic celebrations more than made up for the unavoidable ignorance of many of the brethren present, who had never before had an opportunity of taking part in an affair of the kind.

When the head of the procession reached the spot selected for the performance of the ceremony, a halt was called, and the brethren falling away to the right and left, opened a space for the Acting Grand Officers to approach the stone. This they did in the order above indicated, and the band of the 67th Regiment having been placed in a convenient position, the brethren assembled on a platform where they could witness the proceedings, and the Grand Officers ranged round the stone, the ceremony commenced by the following prayer, impressively offered by Bro. Butcher:

Vouchsafe thine aid, Almighty God and Supreme Ruler of the Universe, to this our present undertaking. Grant that as it has been begun so it may be continued and ended in Thee; may the Light of the Most High shine upon us and upon all our labours this day. May the blessing of the Great Architect of the Universe deign to blessall works based on the principles of justice and on the morality of Freemasonry. May these principles be indelibly engraved in our hearts, so that after this life is ended we may be received into The Eternal Temple of which He is Himself the Architect.

The upper stone was then raised under the superintendence of Mr. Blethen, when the following inscription, which had been engrossed on parchment, was read by the Acting Prov. Grand Secretary., Bro. Lloyd:—

ON MONDAY, JULY 3RD, 1865,
THIS FOUNDATION STONE

Revd. C. H. Butcher, V. Seaman,
Prov. G. Chaplain, Prov. Grand Treasurer.
John Clark,
Pro. Grand Supt. of Works (Architect)

The parchment was then placed in the cavity, and a list of the articles enclosed in the phial was read, as follows,—

The current coins of England, India, China, and Japan.
Friend of China of 1st July, North-China Daily News of 3rd July, North-China Herald of 1st July, Shanghai Recorder of 3rd July.
Bye Laws of Sussex, Northern and Tuscan Lodges, and Circulars of the same announcing the ceremony.

This list, together with the phial containing the papers mentioned, was placed in the cavity by Bro. V. Seaman, Acting Prov. Grand Treasurer, the band playing a solemn air. A shovelful of cement was placed on the lower stone, which having been spread by W. Bro. Gould, the upper stone was lowered by three distinct falls. The Pro. G. M. and officers having then advanced to the foot of the stone, the following portion of the accustomed ritual ensued:—

P. G. M.—Bro. Deputy, you will cause the various implements to be applied to the stone that it may be laid on its bed according to the rules of masonry.

The D. P. G. M. thereupon ordered the Wardens to perform their duty.

P. G. M.—Bro. Junior Grand Warden, what is the proper Jewel of your office?
J. G. W. The Plumb.
P. G. M. Have you applied the Plumb to the several edges of the stone?
J. G. W. I have R. W. Sir.
P. G. M. Bro. Senior Grand Warden, what is the proper Jewel of your office?
S. G. W. The Level.
P. G. M. Have you applied the level to the top of the stone?
S. G. W. I have R. W. Sir.
P. G. M. Brother Deputy, which is the proper Jewel of your office?
D. G. M. The Square.
P. G. M. Have you applied the Square to those parts of the stone that should be square?
D. G. M. I have R. W. Sir.—R. W. Sir, the various implements have been applied to the stone in accordance with ancient custom and usage.
P. G. M. Brethren, having full confidence in your skill in the Royal art, it only remains that I finish the work.

The mallet was then handed to the Prov. G. M. who struck three times on the stone, saying:—

May this undertaking be conducted and completed by the Craftsmen, according to the grand plan, in peace, harmony and brotherly love.

The P. G. M. then called for three cheers, which were given with all the hearty enthusiasm which could be thrown into an expression of gladness and good-will, the band meanwhile playing a lively air. The Cornucopia having been delivered to the Deputy Prov. Grand Master, and the ewers with wine and oil to the Senior and Junior Grand Wardens respectively, by whom they were presented to the Provincial Grand Master, the latter strewed corn on the stone, saying:—

I strew this corn as an emblem of plenty.

He then poured out the wine, saying:—

I pour out this wine as a symbol of joy and gladness.

He then poured out oil, saying:—

I pour this as a symbol of comfort and peace.

The Prov. G. M. then anointed the foundation stone copiously with fresh oil until it ran down on all sides, while he repeated the following prayer:—

As Jacob, the son of Isaac, the son of Abraham, fled from the face of his brother Esau, he tarried in a certain place all night, when he slept on the cold ground, with a stone for his pillow, in great discomfort. Here he had a vision of the gates of heaven, and when he awoke he anointed the stone on which he slept with oil, and named the place Beth El or the House of God In like manner I anoint this stone with pure oil, praying that in the building which may arise from it, none but good men may enter, and men that fear God. Thus may it truly be said,—Behold how good and joyful a thing it is, Brethren, to dwell together in unity.

Two verses of the hundredth psalm, according to the metrical version of the Church of England, were sung, whereupon the Grand officers retired to the back of the platform, and the Prov. G. M. delivered the following address:—

Brother Craftsmen and Fellow residents:—

It has been customary with Masons from time immemorial to lay the foundation stones of public buildings in a manner akin to the ceremony in which we have now participated. The usage arose when the great body of the craft were operative Masons, and advantage is generally taken of an occasion like the present to explain to those in attendance, who may not be members of the order, the import of many of our forms, which though connecting links with ages far remote, are only made use of under circumstances of peculiar interest and solemnity. I have therefore to claim your attention to an oration which will be delivered by the Reverend Chaplain, Bro. Butcher, and now to add in conclusion, the expression of my sincere conviction that the proceedings of this day will redound to the credit of Freemasonry, and be a testimony of vigorous vitality in the settlement.

The Rev. Bro. Butcher, Acting Grand Chaplain, then pronounced the following oration:—

Worshipful Masters, Past Masters, Wardens and Brethren:—There are two points of view from which Freemasonry is to be regarded. It may be regarded from without and from within. The external world and the Brotherhood have each an account to give of it. Now three points must strike the uninitiated with regard to this mystic fraternity. First, its ANTIQUITY:—its origin is in the far off past, for it was in existence when the Temple of Solomon rose on the hill of Moriah, "a mount of snow fretted with golden pinnacles." Freemasonry arose in that antiquity which was, as Lord Bacon observes, "the youth of the world." Again Freemasonry is remarkable, secondly, from its UNIVERSALITY. World-wide influence has been the dream of all great heroes. It was the idea of Alexander, Cæsar, Napoleon, but that which conquerors and kings have failed to attain has been attained by our masonic art. Europe, Asia, Africa and Ameeries have their lodges, their regalia, their ceremonies. We have engaged in a ritual to-day which has been used for centuries, with small variations, in every country in the world. Further, Freemasonry is remarkable from its BENEFICENCE. Its charities are well known in every land. Yes, this is its proudest claim to recognition and to gratitude. Its foundation doctrines are the two commandments on which the Law and the Prophets depend: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God, and thy neighbour as thyself." From its immemorial antiquity, from its wide-spread influence, and from its generous charity Freemasonry claims the respect of the uninitiated.

Regarded from within it is no less worthy of honour. We who are admitted to participate in its secrets are assured that we have learned much from its symbolism. We are no longer the sole Architects. Others outside the pale of Masonry rear edifices of marble and stone. But recollect a character built on the three maxims of our order is a nobler monument of what masonry can do than the spire of Salisbury or the dome of St. Peter's. Gothic traceries and corbels, Palladian architraves and balustrades are beautiful to the eye, but "Brotherly Love, Relief and Truth" are nobler and fairer yet. We have laid the foundation stone of a hall on the banks of a river of which the fathers of Freemasonry never perhaps heard the name. In this outpost of civilisation we are far from many home associations, but let us be thankful that even here we may yet be influenced by the glorious principles of the Craft. May the Great Architect of the Universe grant that peace, hospitality and charity may for ever reign within the walls of that hall of which we have to-day laid the foundation.

The Provincial Grand Master then said:—

Reverend Brother Butcher, I have to return our warm acknowledgements for your excellent oration, and before our R. W. Brother Donaldson, the Director of Ceremonies, re-forms the procession for a return to the place of starting, I would take the opportunity of expressing, in the name of the craftsmen present and indeed on behalf of all who have shared in the recent ceremony, our grateful thanks to the ladies who have graced the proceedings by their attendance. The ladies, it is quite unnecessary for me to say, are everywhere foremost in the cause of charity, the virtue alluded to so feelingly by the Reverend Chaplain, and which is one of the leading principles of our order;—the charity which waits on all below, and is the first of the Bright Hosts above.

After the English national anthem by the band of the 67th Regiment, the procession was re-formed in inverted order, and marched back to the Masonic Hall where the lodges were closed in ancient form with solemn prayer.

The silver trowel used in the ceremony was subsequently presented to W. Bro. Gould as a memento of the occurrences of the day, and will bear the following inscription:—

Presented to Robert Freke Gould, Esq., P. M. Nos. 153, 570, 743, P. P. S. G. W. Andalusia, on the occasion of laying the foundation stone of a Masonic Temple for the foreign settlement of Shanghai, by the Executive Committee charged with the construction of the building. Bro. L. G. Dunlop, P. M. No. 570, Bro. E. Whittall, No. 501, Bro. R. I. Pearon, S. W. No. 570, Bro. A. R. Tilby, P. M. 1027.

During the ceremony the balconies of Messrs. Pustau & Co.'s hong were crowded by ladies who had thus an opportunity of witnessing one of the most interesting as well as important masonic rites. Such a display must have a good effect by exciting an interest in the breasts of those who have not partaken of masonic mysteries, as well as by keeping up the enthusiasm which the brethren of the mystic tie feel for their order. The fraternity is especially to be congratulated on the commencement of this building at a time when it is under consideration to remove the seat of the Provincial Grand Lodge from Hongkong to Shanghai. The new masonic temple will when completed be a fitting depository for the important archives of the craft in China, and will moreover be a standing memorial of that zeal which renders the Shanghai brethren worthy of the honor which the Grand Lodge of England contemplates bestowing upon them. Nor must we forget that this last public act in which Worshipful Brother Gould took a part, was the closing scene of a long masonic career in Shanghai—a career wherein he contrived to do more for Masonry than has fallen to the lot of any of his contemporaries to accomplish. To his representations as well as to the status which under his care Masonry has acquired in Shanghai, the craft will owe the establishment of the Provincial Grand Lodge, and we are confident that while the general community will regret the departure of one who to the best of his ability worked for the well being of the settlement, the masonic body will feel that the order has sustained an irreparable loss in his departure.

A word as to the form and architecture. The plans which have been drawn by J. Clark, Esq., have not yet been submitted to the committee appointed to decide upon them, but they have received the hearty approval of W. Bros. Gould and Parker, who were the earliest promoters of the plan. From what we have seen of them, we have little doubt that the brethren will give in a unanimous verdict of commendation. As proposed, the building will consist of two parts, of which the front portion, facing the bund, will contain three stories, while the back, which will comprise a public hall on the lower floor, and the Masonic temple above, will be two stories in height. The public hall, which will be available for banquets, lectures, concerts and other public occasions, will be furnished with two entrances, one of which will open directly from the exterior of the building, while the other will connect it with the portion devoted to masonic purposes. The hall will be about twenty-five feet in height, and the masonic temple somewhat more lofty. Attached to the latter will be the necessary chapels and preparing rooms, and the whole will be approached from the principal floor of the front building. The portion immediately visible from the bund will contain servants' offices, &c. on the basement, accommodation for library and reading-rooms on the principal floor, and refreshment-room, Masters' conclave and Royal Arch Chapter on the upper story. It is suggested that the style be Italian, with three-quarter columns and deeply recessed windows. If this plan be carried out, the fraternity of Shanghai will have good reason to boast that they have not only raised a fitting temple to Masonry in the East, but that they have set a good example to the settlement by erecting a building conceived in accordance with a correctly educated taste.
